The End of the Term. A Day In a Boy's Life. The Harvest Fly!

At the school in Marlinton the other day, the lady teacher asked all the pupils who would be glad when school was out to hold up their hands.

The school sat motionless, all the exception of one small boy, whose hand went up very promptly. Then he looked around and saw thepious expression on the faces of the rest of the scholars, he got very angry, especially with his older brother and sister, whom he openly charged with votingagainst their principles.

We are inclined to think thatthe small boy was right, unless school children have changed considerably in past few years. Twenty years ago when the summer time came and the fish began to bite, and it was good to get out of doors, it fairly made the average boy desperate to be penned up for eight hours a day in an unpleasant school room.

In those days it would have taken a teacher of nerve to have held such an election in our town, for there might have been a strike there and then, and school adjourned sine die.

In those days I could wander up and down the creek with fishing pole and not a wave of trouble roll across my peaceful breast,

These days were particularly enjoyable just after school was out. The stuffy rooms made you feel drowsy and heavy and the days seem to stretch away so far in future. Saturdays were marred by the thought of strictly kept Sabbath and the school that followed on Monday.

But the longest most wearisome sessions ended, as all things are said to end here, and we were turned out to grass.

A DAY IN A BOY'S LIFE.

(John Brakbat)

One morning John, the bad boy aged 11, woke up just as the gray dawn was showing in the east. His head was in the fire-place, having rolled off his pallet on the floor. He dressed himself hastily, by slipping his legs in a pair of breeches, throwing his one gallus over a shoulder, and putting on a straw hat. This is a very convenient costume, requiring only 20 seconds to put on.

He was up early, because he had twelve lines set for eels, and every body knows that if you let eels remain on the hooks after daylight they always get off. John the Bad stole forth from the houseand started down the meadows to examine his lines. There is considerable excitement in making the rounds of night lines, for there is no telling what the hooks may hold.

The first line was reached. It was about ten fet long, attached to a peg in the bank. There had been something doing here, for when John left it yesterday evening the line was stretched out and reached into the middle of the creek. Now it had been carried up stream and was as taut as a fiddle-string.

He pulled up the peg and felthe line. It was last. An eel had done this. Having swallowed the hook and been landed on the perilous hook in his body the eel had crawled under a stone in mid-stream and lay in dumb misery, waiting to try his strength again the fisherman. The boy pulled, studying the resistance. To whether the line was merely wrapped around a stone, or whether the eel was still fast to the end of it. Presently he felt at the other end the death of the eel. The steady strain and the anguish of the hook in its vitals had dislodged the powerful fish, and it was fighting for its life in mid-water. The small boy at one end of the line and a big eel at the other. The eel's head was one of the wisest heads in existence. John had probably numerous occasions against leaving its antagonist John had probably on such occasions. But never so large a one. The steady pull and strain of the line drew the eel gradually to the bank and stranded it on a mud-bar. It then made several heroic efforts to get back into the water, but John drew the eel further up on the bank and planted his foot on the fish. Then he looked around for a stick with which to kill the eel. He found one and struck the eel a blow on the head. The eel was still alive. John struck it again and again. Then he stopped and taking a good look around to assure himself of the eel's life.

The eel was unconscious. It was dead. John unhooked the eel and put him in the bag. Then he drew down the line and found it had caught another eel. He pulled it in hand over hand. It was a big eel and he dropped it on the bank and started to kill it. But the eel got away and John had to chase it through the grass and mud before he could overtake it. Then he killed it and put it in the bag.

He found eels on all the lines but one. That one had caught a big turtle, which had eaten the bait and broken the line. John was disappointed at losing the turtle, but he was glad to get the eels. He had a fine string of them when he got through.

He then went to the creek and caught a mess of fish for breakfast. He caught a few more than enough for breakfast, and he gave the surplus to a poor widow who lived near by.

Then he went home and ate his breakfast. He was very hungry, for he had been up since daylight and had had no breakfast. He ate a hearty meal of fish, hominy, corn bread and milk. Then he went to bed and slept until noon.

He got up and ate some victuals, and rested awhile, then start on. The march is long. Get to Cheat River very late, and we have hard work getting our supper.

Saturday, July 19, 1861.—We start about 2 p.m. to ride the river. Georgians and 23d Regiment behind. Cavalry ride up very rapidly and report that the enemy have followed us and are fighting our men in rear. Our men repulse them, but they rally. We are ordered back. Order is countermanded, and we retreat very rapidly expecting our foes upon us all the time.

Sunday, July 21, 1861.—Stop about 2 a. m. having marched all night and all day yesterday. Sleep a little while and then march till sun-up. March all the time with scarcely nothing to eat and no time to stop. Stop at bridge to get dinner, but after concluded to march to forks of road on top of mountain.

Monday, July 22, 1861.—The soldiers are nearly all brokendown but still continue to retreat. All suppose, and have good reason for that the enemy are pursuing. General Garnett was killed at the battle on Cheat River. It is a terrible stroke on the forces of northwest Virginia, of which he was commander. Our army is in good health but in the scarcity of beasts. Four fifths of wheel are unprotected. The horrors of war are visible. Arrest at Petersburg before noon. Broad that was only personal for our company was to be paid off, all of which we got and had small sum. We retreat off 3 p. m. and then started on our march. March till noon, then stop at Mill Creek in Nancy County. Distance marched 25 miles.

Wednesday, July 24, 1861.—Our march at 3:15 a. m. Our regiment in front. We make good time. Eat at Lewis Town about 10 a. m. and then start on. Have to be ferried over Greenbrier River. Four hundred prisoners taken at Rich Mountain. Persons say that they heard cannonading all night, but I did not hear it. Wm. Gibson comes to Mr Wood's and tells us that the regiments are moving east. Several of the Lewis Rangers are at Mr Wood's.

Monday, July 22, 1861.—Boys say that fighting is going on at Manassas Junction.

Tuesday, July 23, 1861.—Hear that General Scott was defeated at Manassas Junction with terrible loss, and had taken another position and was determined to die rather than retreat from there.

Wednesday, July 24, 1861.—Report of the battle that was fought yesterday is confirmed today.

Thursday, July 25, 1861.—Learn that Colonel Jackson's regiment has gone west.

Friday, July 26, 1861.—Gohome and get cakes to take along. Geo. takes me to Straight Creek I come on to town (Monterey); and get in after night.

Saturday, July 27, 1861.—Company divides; after considerable delay, the "E" part of the company elect officers. Robert Bradshaw, Captain; Renick Kelster 1st Lieut Andrew Davis 2d Lieut. Company drew tents before dividing. Our mess got one. Have hardly anything to cook in, and, what is more, nothing much to cook.

Sunday, July 28, 1861.—Eat our breakfast and then move our camp down opposite Dr Patterson's residence. Get pass from Lieut. Gilmore for Jacob Matheny and I to lay. Pass guards without difficulty.

Monday, July 29, 1861.—Think for awhile that we are put to another regiment, but soon, too soon find that we are to go west. Get furlough and take flour home to get baked.

Tuesday, July 30, 1861.—Get biscuits and start to Hevener's store. Our company has not yet come, and wait for them there. Company comes about 11 a. m. We come right on. Get here at Laurel Fork about 3 p. m. Sick and don't like our camp. Lose box of wafers.

Wednesday, July 31, 1861.—Get orders to start about 9 a. m. and soon start for the top of Alleghany Mountain, gone, and we have to leave most of our baggage. Go about a fourth of a mile beyond old Yeager's. Have nothing to cook in, send wagon back for utensils.

Thursday, August 1, 1861.—Most of us, having to march to Greenbrier River this morning, don't have any drill. J. G. E. and P go to Colonel Jackson to get pass to visit Churchville Cavalry. Hetells us that it is; says we are on the eve of fight.

Friday, August 2, 1861.—On guard most all day. Kenney C. comes while we are eating supper. He thinks the Yankees have left Cheat Mountain.

Sunday, August 4, 1861.—Go to hear Mr Crooks, 1st Lieut. of the Lewis Rangers, preach.

Monday, August 5, 1861.—Report comes that fighting is going on at Huttonsville. I thought I heard a cannon.

Tuesday, August 6, 1861.—Hear that General Wise, who had fallen back on Lewisburg, has been reforced and is now advancing on the enemy. An Arkansas picket shot John Staton today.

Wednesday, August 7, 1861.—Have regimental drill under Fine, and do considerable double quickening.

Thursday, August 8, 1861. Drill at 9 a. m. as usual. Have neweal for dinner. Have same drill this evening as we had yesterday.

Friday, August 9, 1861.—After morning drill, orders go out for as many men as are able to go to Huttonsville. We get a hasty dinner and a day's rations and start. Ten of us are ordered over the river.

Saturday, August 10, 1861. On small horse is reinforced from the east side of the river. We start in search in sight of Widow Slaven's house and take position in the brush to await the enemy, but they don't come, and we go back to camp about 9 a. m.

Sunday, August 11, 1861.—No drill today because of preaching. The Pocahontas Militia killed 7 of the enemy last Friday. They have been in seven miles of Lewisburg. Are concentrating depredations. Are concentrating depredations. Are concentrating depredations

A FOX HUNT.

To a recent issue the Richmond Times says:

Here is a true story, showing that the fox can reason and act accordingly.

Captain John B. Evans, ochairman of the Republican State committee, J. C. L. Harris, Robert W. Logan, and J. D. Miller, all except Harris living in the town of Rutherford, N. C., were chasing foxes one spring morning. It was a cool crisp morning, and there was just enough dampness on the leaves and grass to enable the dogs to scent Reynard without making a break. Thechase had been going on for two or three hours and more, and the dogs, a pack of 20, pack had been making the welkin ring. The fox was running around in a circle not more than three miles across, and the hunters at sunrise had assembled on the knoll about the centre of the circle which overlooked a ravine about one hundred yards distant from where the hunters had taken their stand. Across the ravine a stately and venerable chestnut tree had disappeared therein. Up to this time it was not known what the log was hollow. The length of the chestnut across the ravine was about seventy-five feet. As quick as the fox could have traveled through the log, he came out on the opposite side of the ravine and made through the forest. The ran to the log and there lost the trail. The hunters watched them for a few minutes, and then Miller called them across the ravine and put them on the track, and the fox.

In about thirty minutes the fox came in sight again with his tail up, and showing no signs of weariness. The dogs were somewhat further behind than before. The hunters watched the fovx and again he ran into the log and out on the opposite side. The dogs had ed again and were put on the trail by Miller. The fox was gone about thirty minutes, and again came back and ran through the log.

This was the third time the fox had run through the log, and Miller remarked that every time it came out of the log he looked like he had rested and was fresh for the race. The dogs were becoming wearied. The chase had been going on for nearly five hours, and after the fox made his fourth entrance and exit from the chestnut log, Miller went to the end of he log where the fox came out each time and securely stopped it up. In about thirty minutes the fox ran into the log the fifth time. Miller then stopped up the other end of the log, and then cut into he log and extracted therefrom three full grown foxes.

BOER WAR OVER.

Last Sunday evening the news came to London that the Boers had signed the British terms of surrender to peace to be declared after clared after two years and eight months of war, that ried the British empire to the utgreatest, and has erased the Boers from the list of nations. Yes, I fread gave it as opinion that the Boers have secured better terms for themselves than the terms originally issued upon by Salisbury, eneral Roberts. The terms are offered to be better than those issued by Chamberlain a year ago. he indemnity hasalso been reduced tion has been cancelled. A wlemnity will be paid by the Boers to the Boers, in the shape of nual loan, but in reality ount of several millions richer. ers have also secured better treatment for their women and children during the war. Many reasons for this change of front have been assigned, but the principal reason given out is that Kitchener found that could not fight even against a race ago as successfully as he and comfort. What a misthing it would be were the American youth to have a fad for such gymnastics, like as the ax or hoe implies and stands for. The sensible time to be ashamed of the axe, he pruning knife, or the hoe, will be when people can live without good and healthy muscles. The only way to have something like a correct idea how it ever came about that it is more respectable to be a consumer or a spectator than to be a producer and a makehrift, is to have no doubt about he personality of Satan, and of his being the Prince of the Power of he air, and exercises with such autocratic power over humanity of all ages, classes, and conditions. f there was nothing in our Bible about satanic ways of doing and thinking, it would seem to me that nothing could account for some foolish ideas but a devil, would be enough to prove his power over human minds.

There is nothing that gives all parental hearts more pleasure than to see their children walking in the truth, as what John, the Beloved disciple, testifies. Patriotic citizens find their highest joy in hearing that the youth of the country are walking in the truth, and like the wonderful man of Patmos would exclaim, we have no greater joy than to hear that our sons and laughters are walking in the truth. One of the livest questions of the period is what is to be done towards persuading the youth of the land to walk in the truth; that is to say, how regulate their conduct hat they make their lives a grand success, for this life and the sublime, portentious hereafter. The Psalmist puts it in this way:

"Wherewithal shall young people cleanse or regulate their way of living? By taking heed thereto according to thy word,"—the ten commandments.

One of the most prominent American citizens of the present day in our national affairs, gives this as his matured opinion: In this country the young men who are seed in the true sense are possessed of certain distinguishing qualities as follows. First, intense application, untiring industry, indomitable perseverence, strict integrity, high character, steady habits, spure ble, patriotism, moral courage and ambition held under wise restraint and devoted to the service of their fellow men and glory of their country.

This implies that no one willever realize this without the impulse of noble principles. Hence by seeking first the kingdom of God and his righteousness, then all mentioned above will be added unto hem; then there will arise a successful generation, who will regard their first duty to be a credit to heir Creator, thereby becoming favorites of their fellow citizens, and the pride and glory of the commonwealth.

Due attention to God's wordand eachings is the beginning of wisom, and a good success have all hose who remember and do his commandments. How hopeful and cheering all would be in our national future prospects were this operation to rise in all sincerity rom our millions of home groups, nd give us even a time like this high minds, great hearts, true faith and ready hands . . . fine whom the lust of office does not kill, . . . fers who possess opinions and a will, . . . fers who have honor, men who will not lie.

A few months ago one of our ry papers of wide circulation and fluence was much uplifted by he announcement that immediately he war and would add great prosperity to the country over anything the past could show. In so far as I know a change seems to have come over the spirit of its optimism in referring as subsequent by months.

Preamble to the following resolutions adopted by the Washington Alliance and commended to our fellow citizens throughout the country:

Whereas, The commercialism has so rapidly become the spirit of the age. The human minds become thoroughly atheistic or materialistic, they must have dependence on something in the way of a system to carry on the civil and social affairs

Whatseemsnow most agreeable to the popular fancy is a huge system of machinery, operating by remorseless physical forces, in place of a loving, sovereign God, who has provided another and better way at infinite cost to Himself.

The tendency of human minds of the twentieth century, that so strenuously prefers commercialism with its blended atheism and materialism, and its machinery of remorseless physical forces to accomplish what may be desired to what God advises and commands, must be full of a horrible and alarming aversion or enmity towards the creator of all minds and all material things.

A correspondent of the Morgantown News relieves his feelings in this happy vein when the results of the primary were not what he had hoped and worked for:

The 800 voters against me were not what Bryan had against himself in the last election. He still lives, able to get around and make speeches; so I suppose I survive my failure. If I can't run anymore, I can walk. Walking is cheaper anyway that running for office. I had gotten 500 more votes I would have been elected; but a paltry number of ballots like this cast for the other fellow, and he gets the nomination. You may be sure that I am happy that there are now no obligations for me to fulfill; and so I can retire to private life and be happy. The consolations of defeat are ten times greater than those of victory; but no man seems to see this until it is forced upon him. Upon counting up everything; livery bills, treats, smokes, new clothes, printing, stationary, postage stamps, wear and tear of nervous system, the amount seems trifling. It is all over now.

Destruction of lives and property in the United States in five years by lightning. These are facts given by U. S. Weather Bureau: Number of persons killed, 1030; injured, 2492; animals killed 4886. Loss of property by lightning, $11,740,940.00. The largest number of buildings stuck were dwellings; the heaviest losses on that class.

By the home coming of the Marlinton School girls, referred were mad glad, and numerous friends are pleased to know these young persons kept well in health and succeeded nicely in their studies. The report made by their teachers as to diligence in study and proprity of deportment reflect much honor upon themselves and the families represented by them.

The happy returning of our school girl friends, the Blooming of the June roses, and the summer morning singing of the birds, are enough to make all feel that life is worth living in Marlinton just at this time at least. It is believed that the contemplated entertainment, and the prospective band concerts will help much in keeping up such a helpful feeling for a good while to come.

May 28th sixty persons were on the platform ithe platform in front if the wholesale house of Bowling Spotts and Company. Staunton, ob serving the performance of the aerial acrobats a sensational feature of the carnival. It gave way fell fifteen feet. A number were injured, and among those seriously hurt were Mrs M. A. Bucher of Augusta county Virginia, and Miss Alice Lightner. Fifteen or more thousand attended the carnival that day, and it is believe d to have the been the largest crowd of people ever seen in Staunton.

Adam C. Moore, wife and daughter, were in Marlinton Thursday, and extended their newspaper knowledge likewise.

THE CIRCUS.

We had a fine day, a big crowd, and good show Wednesday. The circus train got in about 8 o'clock but before that people were beginning to come in and by parade time the town was full of people. By systematic work the circus men soon had their big tents up and were ready for the parade when the excursion train from Durbin arrived. The parade was the best we have ever had in Marlinton, all the wagons and cages glistening with fresh paint and the horses being in good order and well groomed. The Hoocheechoochee show caught a lot of the uninitiated's nickels an did a big business in the forenoon, but by the time the big show was open everybody was on, and custom slacked up a little. The Three Shell man was doing a land office business in the side show, but judging from what we hear of those who first saw the pea and then did not see it, he did not get away with so much boodle as it appeared as everybody either won or came out even.

One particularly striking feature was the cycle whirl, two men and two women riding bicycles around the palings slanting at an angle of perhaps 90 degrees of a small enclosure. It looked as if their bodies and wheels were almost horizontal; but above all the horses took our eye. They, ranged from the heavy draft horse to the clean limbed riding horses and trick pony and added a whole lot to the entertainment.

The crowd was estimated at 3000, which was not very far away as 2676 tickets to the main show were sold. The crowd was particularly well behaved, and all seemed satisfied with th show.

DUNMORE

Cool and dry.

Great damage has been done by he frost.

Dr Jarrett performed here last week on the mouth organs, and is at work at Frost this week.

Wooden Hooks and Bill Grimes have been looking up sheep.

Rev Benjamin Collins preached Isaac Shemneberrys funeral Sunday at the Buzzard Church. A very large crowd attended the funeral.

We have three daily hacks from Dunmore to Forrest and one to Frost.

E L. McElwee and family are here on a visit.

Quite a lot of drummers have been in town this month.

Ice cream is serve every Saturday evening from 4 to 8 at the Hill Side Hotel.

There ought to be some road working done in the Huntersville and Edray districts.

We do not understand why the Snake Creek Road is no built. The people who live on the west side o the river have been out of a road for three years. When the County Court gave the road to the railroad, they ought to look at the matter in this way: At that time work hands could be got for $1.00 per day. Now they cost $1.50; also all kinds of grain and meats are double what it cost at that time, and it will cost more to build and make roads than three years ago.

Why does the Court want to wait until winter to build roads, when the weather is bad and the days short. The summer is the time to build roads.

There is $1475 dollars to go on that road, and it should be put on the upper part at once. Open the road from the depot at Forrest to the Back Mountain road.

There is a man wh will build a good road from the depot to the back mountain rad for that sum. There will be nscheme not tobuist it at all.

There is no more saved by letting our roads all go to thunder but they will have to be fixed some time.

John Galford rolled a rail out over one of his children last week, hurting it pretty badly, but is getting along nicely at this time.

All parties interested in fixing up the grave yard at Dunmore will meet on Saturday, June 14, at 1 P. M. There is still some work to do. These things should not be neglected. MR POOH.

GREENBANK

There is got cold and snowed.

We had two killing frosts, and the seeds of the farmer was turned to a frown. Some said spit, and don't try; others said might to mourn and will perhaps try it, and gathered sad relief, but it was not so bad, as it is now warm and corn is coming nicely.

Rev Campbell, Kenny Sharkey and Will Geiger attended Court Saturday. There were three suits in Justice and a fight. Costly business now-a-days this time.

Edgar McLaughlin of Germantown was visiting his brother Henry last week, and seeing about some business property in town.

Charley Arbaugh of Cass was visiting after his interests in town last week.

A. S. Hannah of Arbaugh was a business caller in town Monday.

Mr Watson, the corner preach is with here McLaughlins was in town Monday.

Rev Vandervander, the Justice preacher with Rev J. W. McNeel, is among us and is a good preacher.

Mr Pooh had better buy him some shells are flying and don't be flying Wheeler's way.

Charley Bennett of Marlinton was in town last week.

Rev Preston Riggins of Dunmore was in town last week.

ONOTO.

Mr and Mrs P. L. Carter of this place returned last Friday from a week's visit among friends and relatives in Greenbrier County. They were accompanied by Miss Fannie Malcomb of near Frankford, who will spend a week or two visiting her old home friends here.

W. W. Kinnison has begun work on the new church at West Union.

The C. and W. engineers have moved from Williams River to the McLaughlin Spring, where they will camp, while locating the railroad through this part of the country. The indications are that we will have another railroad thro our county now, and we hope it will be soon.

The cold snap of last week did lots of damage to corn, potatoes, and garden truck in this neighborhood.

Mrs Giles Sharp and children, of Verdant Valley, spent Sunday with her mother and brother on Stony Creek.

W. B. Hill of Lobelia passed here one day last week on his way from Williams River, where he had been working for the engineer corps for a few days.

Frank Baxter has got a bicycle, and is having a time riding it now.

The three Mrs Pattersons of Marlinton were visiting George Baxter one day last week.

Mrs Sarah McClure of near this place went to Jacksons River last Saturday to see her daughter, Mrs Caroline Price, who has been very sick for some time.

Miss Mamie White has gone to the Levels to visit her sister for a few days.

The sick in this neighborhood are all improving.

William Barkley says that the schools can not be kept up without scholars. Its a girl.

Clearing buckwheat ground and shearing sheep seems to be the order of the day.

Claude says that whooping-cough is not so funny as he thought it was.

George Beverage brought in about eighty head of cattle belonging to Jones and Peterson of McDowell, Va., which he will range in the mountains this summer.

Rev Pullin preached an interesting sermon at Top-o-Alleghany School House Sunday morning.

We understand that the regular train is to come to Durbin, our nearest station, ten miles from here. SUMMIT.

BEAVER DAM.

Mr Editor, news is scarce in this part.

The health of our neighborhood is very good at present, thank you.

The freeze in this part has done lots of damage. The fruit is nearly all killed.

Emery Miller of Spruce Flat has been hauling lumber to his farm on Beaver Dam and expects to build soon.

Lee Beard ofAcademy was in his part last week.

E. B. Vanreenan says there is no place like Spruce Flat. That's right Ernest.

Charley Galford was a caller at F. M. McCoy's last Sunday.

Uriah Bird of Marlinton was in this part last week surveying land.

Miss Nettie Vanvrenan and sister, of Stony Creek, were callers at G. W. Rodgers last week.

Our Sunday school is going on with grand success. May God's blessing be on it.

Dan Munday made a flying trip to Buckeye today.

We are certainly glad to get the new benches for the new schoolhouse, and hope it will be opened in the near future. S. S.

The pensions of pensioners residing in this county will much increase after the 4th of March next. One who seems to be entitled to a pension and the proper evidence to obtain the same, is the widow of the late Jacob Hevener, who died in the year 1863, and left a widow and seven children. The widow is now living in Monterey, and is in destitute circumstances. She is entitled to a pension of $8 per month, and the amount due her from the time of her husband's death will be about $400. She has applied for a pension, but has not yet received it. She is now 70 years old.

RED SEA PIRATES.

Flourishing in Arabian Waters as in the Days of Yore.

News from Aden, says the Madras Times, tells that pirates, as in the "good old days of old," are troubling the coastwise shipping, and the stretch of Arabian water between Hodeida, Kunfadah and up to Jeddah is not safe. There are three Turkish warships cruising along the Arabian coast, supposed to be doing special sea police duty, but piracy is still going on. To anyone who knows aught of the methods of the Turkish men-o'-war commanders this will not be astonishing. The latest case reported is that of a sambook which left Hodeida for Kunfadah, loaded with piece goods and merchandise worth about $21,000 and $12,000 in cash. The crew numbered 14 and there were 12 passengers. While anchored for the night, according to custom, in a barren place near the coast not very far from Jaizan, the ship was, at midnight, boarded by two fishing boats, containing 12 negroes armed with large sticks. The negroes fell on crew and passengers, beating them unmercifully, and, having tied up their hands and legs, took charge of the sambook and sailed all night.

The following morning they arrived at a small place on the coast, anchored and four of them taking money went on shore. They bought 60 rifles and 1,200 cartridges, came back on board and sailed again all day with their prisoners still tied up. After sunset they came to a place called Towail, on the same coast, which is their home. On anchoring their friends crowded to the shore and joyfully helped them to discharge the loot. After taking out all the cargo, money, provisions and the crews' and passengers' clothes, they told them to clear away with their sambook, giving them only one day's provisions. The leader of this gang, named Ahmed Gobaish, is said to be a well known pirate and highwayman. He is also the chief of the place. Next day the despoiled passengers arrived at Jeddah and reported the matter to the authorities there.

A COLD-WEATHER EPISODE.

Trooper's Feet Frozen Stiff While He Slept.

"Speaking of the cold weather, I remember during the latter part of March, 1883, a day that was one of the coldest I have ever experienced," said Policeman M. J. Flynn, of the police court squad, the other day, according to the Washington Star, when a number of attorneys and policemen were talking about cold weather. "Previous to becoming a member of the police department about 16 years ago, I served four years in the army. In 1883 I was a 'noncom.' in company A Eleventh United States infantry, and was stationed at a government reservation in South Dakota, near the Missouri river.

"It was during the latter part of March of that year that John L. Sullivan fought and whipped Pat Ryan. I don't remember the exact day, but the thermometer was hovering in the twenties below zero, and I was included in a number of about 250 men who were detailed to cut ice on the Missouri river, to be stored for use at the officers' mess. The men were all dressed in buffalo coats, and it was worse than bitter cold. We were all interested in the prize fight, and a courier brought the news from the reservation to the river. Some of the men were from Sullivan's home town, Boston, while a number claimed to have grown up with Pat Ryan in New York.

"As a result of the news the men became excited and finally a battle was in progress there on the ice—the Boston men versus the New York men. The non-commissioned officers succeeded in quelling the disturbance and when we returned to quarters a number of the men were placed in the guard house over night, while others had to call on the post surgeon. One of the men let his feet protrude from his blankets when he retired that night and the next morning they were frozen stiff."

Injurious Food.

Some foods are very injurious to the sight. A case was brought under the notice of an eye specialist in which the eyes of a whole family were affected by eating rabbit-pie. In each instance the patient had become affected with a peculiar defect of vision that is technically known as "failure of accommodation." Static changes and some cases cause a weakening of sight known as "asthenia." Blindness resulting from eating certain of fish has been found almost impossible to cure, and quinine is also responsible for some persons' half-blinded condition. This drug affects the optic nerve in a manner that sometimes ends in blindness.

LIGHTNING STATISTICS

As the season for summer storms is now upon us, some pertinent reflections derived from statistics furnished by the U. S. Weather Bureau may be of use. In 1900, 713 fatal cases were reported from lightning, persons in the United States, and 673 persons more or less injured by lightning. Of the 713 fatal cases, eighty-seven were killed by the upset of a horse, or runaway team, 56 in barns. Three people are at present confined in the penitentiary serving sentences for the crime of murder during a thunder storm, and the average sentence is about three years. Of the 673 fatal cases reported, 111 were killed by the upset of a horse, or runaway team, 56 in barns. SALE OF REAL ESTATE BY SPECIAL COMMISSIONER

The State of West Virgiria, vs: In Chancery
Henry Sheets and others.

Pursuant to a decree of the Circuit Court of Kanawha County, West Virginia, made in the abovenamed chancery cause of the State of West Virginia vs. Henry Sheets and others, therein pending, the undersigned Special Commissioner will on Tuesday, the 17th of June, 1902, sell by way of public auction at the front door of the court house of Pocahontas County, West Virginia, the following real estate of the defendant Henry Sheets and others, situated in said Pocahontas County, West Virginia.

(1). A certain tract of two hundred and twelve acres (212) of land in Greenbank District, of said Pocahontas County, known as the Sheets "Home Place," and now occupied by said Henry Sheets and family.

(2). A certain tract of fortysix and one-half (46 1-2) acres of land situated on Hick's Run, in said Greenbank District of said Pocahontas County, adjoining or near said "Home Place."

(3). A certain tract of about eleven (11) acres, situated in said Greenbank District, adjoining or close to said other tracts.

(4). A certain tract of about fourteen acres of land, situated in said Greenbank District, adjoining or close to said other tracts

(5). A certain tract of about seven and one-half acres of land, situated in said Greenbank District, close to or adjoining said other tracts.

These five tracts will be first offered separately, and then all five as a whole, and the bid or bids for them that are the largest will be accepted.

(6). A certain tract of about (259 1-2) two hundred and fifty-nine and one-half acres of land, situated in Edray District of said Pocahontas County, West Virginia, on Williams River, and known as the Henry Sheets land. All of these lands are the same that were conveyed by the said Henry Sheets to his wife, the defendant Elizabeth R. Sheets and his children, by deed dated on the 7th day of June, 1897, and recorded in the office of the Clerk of the County Court of said Pocahontas County, in Deed Book No. 37 at page 404, to which deed and others in the chain of title reference is hereby had for a more particular description thereof.

Terms of Sale: The sum of one fourth of the purchase money cash in hand on day of sale, and for the residue the said purchaser or purchasers shall give his or their three notes with interest thereon from the day of sale until paid at six per cent per annum, with good personal security therefor, payable to the said Special Commissioner at nine, eighteen, and twenty-seven months after date of sale, and the title of the property sold is to be retained as a further security.

For further information apply to the undersigned at Cheslyn in West Virginia, and the 10th day of June, 1902, and then at Marlinton, West Virginia.

GEO. M. McCLINTIC,
Special Commissioner.

Bond with approved security has been given by the above named Special Commissioner as required by law, and before delivery of title to the purchaser or purchasers.

GRANT P. HALL,
Clerk Kanawha County Circuit Court.

LISTEN!

I WANT TO BUY YOUR

WOOL

And I guarantee my price on wool is from 1c to 2c per pound higher than the wool buyers offer the merchants. Through the influence of a friend of mine I made a contract with a Philadelphia woolen mill to deliver them on or before July 15th

10,000 to 20,000 Pounds of WOOL

And I challenge any merchant in Pocahontas County to produce as good an offer on wool as I have. If any one pays as much for wool as I do it is because I forced them to, because I was the first to name a price on wool. Now I want to buy your

Wool

Without Baits, Without any schemes and without any tricks. I did not send out any man to you to offer you Arbuckle coffee for 10c a pound, which is below cost. Now you know very well if a merchant sells you Arbuckle coffee at 10c a pound he has to make it up on something else unless he buys all coffee.

A Careful Buyer

A man from the upper end of the county came here last week with over 400 pounds of wool. I offered him a price for his wool. He priced my goods and I gave him the very lowest prices. He asked me what I sold Arbuckle coffee. I told him the best price was 12 1-2 cents. He went out and returned in about a half hour and said that Mr ——— had offered him the same price for his wool that I had and would sell him Arbuckle coffee for 10c a pound, but he says, "As I know Arbuckle coffee costs him more than 10cts a pound, he is bound to make it up on me or someone else, and I dont like to trade with a man like that. And he let me have the wool and paid me 12 1-2cts a pound for Arbuckle coffee, but I sold him everything else just as low as if he had paid me the hard cash.

When I established the ——— in 1891

Pocahontas Bargain House

I established a principle and fair dealing that one man's dollar was good as the next man's hundred cents.

That every man, woman, and child must be treated alike.

Not to deceive people.

Not to misrepresent anything.

To sell 16 ounces to every pound I sell, and to take 16 ounces for every pound I buy, and every purchase or trade made at my store or your money back; and to above principles and fair dealings I will stick.

Must be Stifactory

If you want to let me have your wool, I guarantee you your wool's worth in return.

Hoping to be favored with your patronage, I remain,

Yours Very Truly,

A. Harrison,

Prop. The Pocahontas Bargain House.

NOTES

Some Editorial Reflections by W. T. P., on Timely Subjects

Useful Gymnastics for Young Persons, A "Wherewithal Shall a Young Man Cleanse His Way?" Comfort for Defeated Candidates for Office.

Of the many sensible things said by Dr Philipps in his addresses at Alderson, nothing seemed more to the purpose than theimportance he attached to physical culture and muscle development. He seemed to think that a person's body was about the most valuable piece of property that anyone could have, and should be looked after, even to the gymnastic opportunities afforded by garden or wood-shed, as to beneficent results were fully equal to the most elaborately arranged gymnasium, and had far more attractive and useful results to show as a consequence for use and comfort. What a nice thing it would be were the American youth to have a fad for such gymnastics, like as the ax or hoe implies and stands for. The sensible time to be ashamed of the axe, be pruning knife, or the hoe, will be when people can live without food and healthy muscles. The only way to have something like a correct idea how it ever came about that it is more respectable to be a consumer or a spendthrift than to be a producer and a makership, is to have no doubt about the personality of Satan, and of his being the Prince of the Power of the air, and exercises well such autocratic power over humanity in all ages, classes, and conditions. If there was nothing in the Bible about satanic ways of doing and thinking, it would seem to me that nothing could account for some foolish ideas but a devil, would be enough to prove his power over human minds.

There is nothing that gives all parental hearts more pleasure than to see their children walking in the truth, as what John, the Beloved disciple, testifies. Patriotic citizens find their highest joy in hearing that the youth of the country are walking in the truth, and like the wonderful man of Patmos would exclaim, we have no greater joy than to hear that our sons and daughters are walking in the truth. One of the livest questions of the period of what is to be done towards persuading the youth of the land to walk in the truth; that is to say, how regulate their conduct that they make their lives a grand success, for this life and the sublime, portentious hereafter. The Psalmist puts it in this way:

"Wherewithal shall young people cleanse or regulate their way of living? By taking heed thereto according to thy word,"—the ten commandments.

One of the most prominent American citizens of the present day in our national affairs, gives this as his matured opinion: In this country the young men who succeed to the true sense are possessed of certain distinguishing qualities as follows. First, intense application, untiring industry, indomitable perseverence, strict integrity, high character, steady habits, spare life, patriotism, moral courage and ambition held under wise restraint and devoted to the service of their fellow men and glory of their country.

This implies that no one willever cause this without the impulse of noble principles. Hence by seeking first the kingdom of God and his righteousness, then all mentioned above will be added unto him; then there will arise a successful generation, who will regard their first duty to be a credit to their Creator, thereby becoming favorites of their fellow citizens, of the pride and glory of the commonwealth.

Destruction of lives and property in the United States in five years by lightning. These are facts given by U. S. Weather Bureau: Number of persons killed, 1030; injured, 2402; animals killed 4886. Loss of property by lightning, $11,749,940.00. The largest number of buildings stuck were dwellings; the heaviest losses on that class.

By the home coming of the Marlinton School girls, referred were mad glad, and numerous friends are pleased to know these young persons kept well in health and succeeded nicely in their studies. The report made by their teachers as to diligence in study and proprity of deportment reflect much honor upon themselves and the families represented by them.

The happy returning of our school girl friends, the blooming of the June roses, and the summer morning singing of the birds, are enough to make all feel that life is worth living in Marlinton just at this time at least. It is believed that the contemplated entertainment, and the prospective band concerts will help much in keeping up such a helpful feeling for a good while to come.

ORDER OF PUBLICATION.

State of West Virginia,
County of Pocahontas, to-wit:

At rules held in the Clerk's office of the Circuit Court for said county, on the first Monday in May, 1902.

J. R. Gum, Plaintiff
vs.
J. M. Moomaw Defendant

The object of this suit is to dissolve the partnership heretofore existing between the plaintiff and defendant under the firm name and style of Moomaw and Gum, to pay partnership debts, and the accounting and settlement and apply the surplus, and to attach the interest property of the defendant, J. M. Moomaw and subject the same to the payment of the sum that may be found due the said J. R. Gum upon the settlement of the partnership accounts, and the said defendant, J. M. Moomaw, not having entered his appearance in the clerk's office of this court and given bond with security according to the law and the rules of this court, and it appearing by affidavit filed that the defendant, J. M. THE COLD WAVE

Does Much Damage Throughout this County.

Results the Frosts of June 3, 1902

Corn and Garden Truck is Being Replanted. Damage Not Irreparable if Season Now Remains Favorable.

Last week at the end of the rains, we had some very cold weather. The first night was in the nature of a freeze, and the next morning on the uplands many of the leaves on the forest trees were killed. This especially were injured by the frost. The gardens in some sections of the county were wiped out. At some places the smell of the dead vegetation resembled that which comes from a field of cured hay.

As far as we can learn, the wheat was not injured, though the past winter was so hard on the wheat crop that we will not average anything like half a crop in the county this year.

For damage done this was the worst freeze we have had for 43 years. On Sunday, June 5, 1859, here was a cold wind blowing. Saturday night the wind fell and the skies cleared. On Sunday morning a winter's frost lay on the ground. Corn had in some places been worked three times. The wheat was in bloom. The whole country was blasted and something like a panic ensued. The leaves of the trees were killed and he scent of decaying vegetation was in the air. There were then no markets avaiable, and the citizens feared famine. They replanted and sowed buck wheat, and saving one of the best of seasons from that time on, winter found them with a sufficient store.

Now-a-days, if the frost blights the crops, we can sell a few trees and all the markets of the world an be levied on for food.

It seems to us that the past year as been one of great extremes. ast summer was the hottest in years, and the winter was the coldest. We have had a flood after load and the drought last fall was most unusual.

Improved Bees.

George McClellam has introduced an Italian queen into a hive f his black bees. The Italian ee is nearly as yellow as a yellow jacket, and is a more industrious worker than our common dark bee. He can sting as hard s a hornet, and is bad to rob other bees, but the bee pasture must e mighty short if the Italian does ot gather enough stores to see im through the winter. One olony of Italian bees will mix ith every colony of bees in a eighborhood, and soon every hive within a radius of five miles will egin to show the yellow bands which mark the Italian. This hybreed bee is considered by bee experts to be the best bee obtainable, being very hardy, industrious, and "tractious," in fact partaking very much of the character of the mule.

Several years ago a bee keeper on the Big Spring Branch of Elk troduced the Italian bee into his hives, and in a few months he had bees which he could distinguish from those of his neighbors when he saw them at work in the fields. We were told the other day that nearly every hive on Elk contained hybreds just from the introduction of a single Italian queen.

We heard a tale on a country man who had gone to a big expense to put his bees on a paying basis, buying improved hives and using great pains to keep them free from worms. The first season the bees did remarkably well and more than paid for the ironing and seed expense. But the next year a near neighbor, seeing how well the bees were doing, thought he himself would rejuvinate some. He guess that barely made enough money to winter them, by transferring and introducing Italian queens. From the time the Italian bees made their appearance the other bees did not good, and instead of having a surplus of honey, about all the colonies did not live through the winter. As soon as spring opened up the cause in the decrease of the flow of honey was apparent. A solid stream of yellow bees flew from one hive to the other, carrying away what little honey that was left.

Both speakers took specially favorable notice of the movement on hand to petition the Judge and Attorney for the Commonwealth to enforce the law to the utmost limit in suppressing the illicit traffic in whiskey. It was stated, fines were not being collected, guilty parties escaped, and that important outbreaks of enterprises were on the verge of suspension, which could only be averted by the suppression of the illicit sale of whiskey and other intoxicants, and that merchants and other creditors were being wronged of their just debts where the baneful traffic was connived at by the law not being ...the full limit.

THE MOTHER'S PLAID.

[Rev William C. Burns, Scotchman, leaving for a foreign missionary field, many years ago, on visiting his home for the last time, took his mother's plaid from the wall, and silently left his own in the place of it.]

He had said goodby to the loved ones all,
This grown-up, bearded lad,
Then without a word, but with tender hand,
He reached for his mother's plaid.

He thought of the future, dim, unknown,
Of the past—sweet love he had had;
And thinking thus, he now must have
His dear old mother's plaid.

Why leave they mother, why leave her alone?
Stay, bearded and grown-up lad
There are others to fight in the battle of life:
Oh, take not thy mother's plaid!

'Twas the mother's lips that bade him go forth,
Her words were strong and glad
He could dare and do and be brave and true
When wrapped in her dear old plaid.

He had heard the voice of his mother's God,
Say, "Go to a world run mad,
And I will be with thee, and thou shalt take Thine own old mother's plaid."

Ah, who can tell what comfort and strength
God hid for this great lad,
To be found and used in the far off land,
In the precious, dear old plaid.

Mothers, when your boys must needs go forth
To the world so dark and sad,
Let your prayers go with them and wrap them about,
As did this mother's plaid.

For the mother's prayers are mighty to save,
The deer and stalwart lad;
Then fold him 'round and hide him beneath
Your prayer-wrought, tear washed plaid!

SUNDAY'S SERVICES

Marlinton had the usual quota of sermons and Sunday schools last Sabbath. Rev Lawson occupied the M. E. pulpit at 11 a. m. and had for his text Luke 9, 23: "If any man will come after me, let him deny himself and take up the cross."

Cross-bearing self denial was the theme illustrated and fastened upon the conscience. The parable of a spavined horse, with a complication of swingey, was used to illustrate the uses of some members of the churches. The owner of such property might say he had a horse, but that would be about all. Such of the church people might be said to say of such, there is one of our members, but that would be all that ought to be said.

Rev Crabtree officiated at night in the Presbyterian church. The first Psalm was read and commented upon as setting forth the man that is best off of all men, and by way of contrast the man who of all men is the most miserable, in prospects for time and eternity.

The place of the sermon was utilized by a reading and exposition of the rules of the M. E. Church.

Both speakers took specially favorable notice of the movement on hand to petition the Judge and Attorney for the Commonwealth to enforce the law to the utmost limit in suppressing the illicit traffic in whiskey. It was stated, fines were not being collected, guilty parties escaped, and that important outbreaks of enterprises were on the verge of suspension, which could only be averted by the suppression of the illicit sale of whiskey and other intoxicants, and that merchants and other creditors were being wronged of their just debts where the baneful traffic was connived at by the law not being ...the full limit.

ORDER OF PUBLICATION.

State of West Virginia,
County of Pocahontas, to-wit:

At rules held in the Clerk's office of the Circuit Court for said county, on the first Monday in May, 1902.

J. R. Gum, Plaintiff
vs
J. M. Moomau Defendant

The object of this suit is to dissolve the partnership heretofore existing between the plaintiff and defendant under the firm name and style of Moomau and Gum, to pay partnership debts, state the accounts, and ascertain and apply the surplus, and to attach the personal property of the defendant, J. M. Moomau and subject the same to the payment of the sum $821.66due from said J. M. Moomau to the said J. R. Gum. This day came the plaintiff by his attorney, and on his motion and it appearing by affidavit filed that the defendant, J. M. Moomau, is a non resident of the State of West Virginia, it is ordered that the said defendant do appear here within one month after the first publication of this order and do what is necessary to protect his interest in this suit. Teste:

J. H. PATTERSON, Clerk.

SALE OF LANDS FOR THE SCHOOL FUND.

Pursuant to a decree of the circuit court of Pocahontas County, West Virginia, entered at the April Term thereof, in the chancery cause of the State of West Virginia vs. J. T. Rose and others, in that branch of the said cause concerning the tract of 44 acres forfeited in the name of H. M. Moffett's heirs, the undersigned Commissioner of School Lands for said County will on at the front door of the courthouse of Pocahontas County proceed to sell by way of public auction to the highest bidder for cash, the following property, towit:

A tract of 44 acres of land situated on Greenbrier River, opposite Hillsboro, in Levels District; said land lies between the lands of F. R. Harper and Ellis McCarty and the river, and is in timber, being a tract forfeited for non-payment of taxes thereon.

B. M. YEAGER,
Commissioner of School Lands for Pocahontas County.

When You Want

UP-TO-DATE CLOTHING,

Shoes, Hats, Ties, Collars, Shirts, Underwear, Gloves, Half Hose, Trunks and Suit Cases call and I can show you a complete line.

I now have most of my Spring and Summer Goods on and I am sure they are as pretty as I ever saw and in the very latest styles. I am the SOLE AGENT for the Celebrated Chesterfield soft and stiff Hats, International Armor Brand Shirts and Collars, guaranteed fast colors and to fit perfectly, also Sweet, Orr & Co's fine Dress Pants, Corduroy Pants and Overalls which are all Union made, and great pains are taken in the manufacturing of these pants so they fit nicely and the goods are the best that money can buy.

Why pay twenty-five dollars for a made-to-order suit of clothes when you can get them from twelve dollars up? I have one thousand or more samples to select from. The very latest patterns of imported goods are shown, made in any style you want. Every suit has the Union label on it, guaranteed to fit.

This is just what the manufacturers say. "We give no premiums, and have no schemes for pulling business. Our only scheme is to do the kind of work that makes steady customers. Our eyes and ears are on the alert for improvement. If we hear of a "star" cutter we hire him. If we hear of a "Cracker-Jack" tailor we get him. In brief, we aim to keep right up next to the band wagon in the great business world."
